Module One 9:00 — 10:30 am

State of Affairs & Taking Care of Business

Shakespeare wrote: Misery acquaints a man with strange bedfellows. We would be hard pressed to find a more apt statement to describe the current situation because in a pandemic recession, plan sponsors and employees may have more in common than that which divides them.

Welcome to the FPPTA Summit

Kim Prior, Chief Executive Officer

Florida Public Pension Trustee Association

Message to our Membership

Ash Williams, Chief Executive Officer

State Board of Administration

The Growing Burden of Retirement

Dan Doonan, Executive Director

The FPPTA Pension Plan Data Center

Fred Nesbitt, PhD., FPPTA Media Consultant

Mark Meyer, Aon

The FPPTA Pension Plan Data Center is a new undertaking in response to members' requests for more information about our retirement plans. The Data Center will provide plan statistics on all FPPTA member plans. This allows members to better understand their plan and make comparisons to other FPPTA plans, as well as the 485 local defined benefit plans in Florida.

Actuarial Advice: ``If one takes care of the means, the end will take care of itself.`` Gandhi

Will retirement change for the thousands of local government employees in Florida? The state's economy hinges heavily on travel and tourism, two industries devastated by the pandemic. The resulting loss of jobs and tax revenues will leave a big mark on the state and local economies. Meanwhile, pension plans are often judged by their funded ratios alone, but when is fully funded not enough and when are unfunded liabilities too much?

Assessing Asset Classes with Clarity

Assessing a pension plan's asset classes and assumed rate of return will never be more important than during and beyond the pandemic recession. The job of a plan's consultant in planning the best strategy just got tougher. Past experience may offer some lessons, but other economic consequences may be as novel as the coronavirus.
