

Brian Devine

US Institutional Business Development, North America Institutional team

Brian is a member of Newton's North America institutional team. In his current role, he is responsible for marketing investment strategies to institutional investors in the US.

Brian joined Newton in September 2021, following the integration of Mellon Investments Corporation's equity and multi-asset capabilities into the Newton Investment Management Group. Before joining Newton, Brian worked in institutional business development at Mellon Investments Corporation (a BNY Mellon group company).

Prior to joining BNY Mellon, Brian spent eight years at LMCG Investments where he was responsible for business development with institutional investors as well as developing and servicing consultant relationships for the firm. Prior to LMCG, Brian worked at BlackRock in investor services where he promoted the firm's mutual funds in an effort to expand relationships with financial advisors throughout the US.

Brian has a BBA in Finance from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.
